

April, 1997

Dear Fellow Biologist,

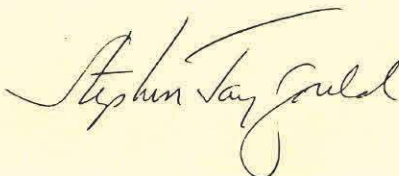

All of us are members of the National Center for Science Education. There may be things we disagree about, but one thing we can all agree upon, is that the National Center for Science Education is an organization that deserves your support. NCSE defends the teaching of evolution: a topic of importance to every biologist.

Please read the enclosed letter from Dr. Eugenie C. Scott, the director of NCSE, and join us as members.

Sincerely,

Daniel C. Dennett

Stephen Jay Gould

Don Johanson

Richard C. Lewontin

Michael Ruse

Tim D. White